TONY KELLY

The Irish Photographer Tony Kelly is one of the most influential fine art photographers of our times. His cinematic style of photography with a luxury aesthetic and vibrant use of colour plays with humour and provocation.

Although highly polished, his work is playfully subversive and forces us to stop and think - inviting us to venture beneath the glossy veneer and confront stereotypes, taboos and role reversals. He always delivers a dash of self-irony to the naked skin and tells a story.

ELLEN VON UNWERTH

Ellen von Unwerth was born in 1954 in Frankfurt am Main, Germany, and currently lives in Paris, Berlin und New York. She is one of the most famous and influential photographers in the world. After a decade as a fashion model, Ellen von Unwerth brought a first-hand knowledge of the kinetic energy of fashion photo shoots to the creation of her own photographs. She discovered famous models like Claudia Schiffer and Eva Herzigova, creating worlds of imagery with them that have already gone down in the history of contemporary photography and are now an integral part of our everyday aesthetics.

ROXANNE LOWIT

Roxanne Lowit's portfolio is a tribute to the world of glamour and the creative elite. After more than three decades of celebrity and backstage photography Roxanne Lowit has become a star in her own right. Her work has left its mark, and her distinctive style has influenced the visual culture of an era.

Her photographs are documents and historical records at the same time. Held predominantly in black-and-white, they reveal that Lowit is more interested in the inner worlds hidden behind the glamorous façade. Her pictures smoothly combine glamour and the underlying spirit, countenance and atmosphere, surface detail with depth.

ALBERT WATSON

Over the past four decades, Albert Watson has made a name for himself as one of the world's most successful fashion and advertising photographers, creating his own unique visual language. His work is complex, nuanced and extremely versatile - landscape photography, portraits, nudes and still lifes are all part of his oeuvre and underline the artist's multifaceted approach. The way he illuminates his subjects, especially the fetish objects and portraits, creates an almost meditative atmosphere in the photographs.

MICHEL COMTE

Michel Comte was born in Zurich in 1954. The trained art restorer is a truly self-made man and autodidact. He received his first international advertising assignment in 1979 from Karl Lagerfeld for the fashion house Chloé, after which he moved to Paris.

Work for American Vogue took him to New York, and he later settled in Los Angeles. „I've always lived on the edge," Comte says of his restless personality. Expressive portraits characterize his work but visual commentary on climate change is also part of his portfolio.

MARK SELIGER

Mark Seliger was born in 1959 in Amarillo, Texas. Seliger's interest in photography began when his brother Frank promised to give him his Diana camera if he made a point in the Little League baseball game. Mark didn't make the point, but he did manage to steal a base (after getting hit on the shoulder by the pitcher), making the camera now his. The darkroom became his first love and he devotedly practiced developing and printing at home.

His celebrity Portraits of Kim Kardashian, Leonardo DiCaprio, Brad Pitt, and many others make Seliger a world famous and sought-after photographer.

DAVID DREBIN

David Drebin's is one of the greatest photographers of our times. After graduating from Parsons School of Design in New York City, he rapidly made a name for himself as an internationally renowned fine art photographer. His photographs are epic, dramatic and above all, cinematic, therefore collected all around the world. At a second glance, the strong emotions underneath the smooth surface become visible. From resplendent panoramas to cinematic, glamorously staged moments, Drebin always tackles big emotions like humor, love and sex.

This Diamond Dust Collection is an exclusive limited edition of the most iconic artworks by David Drebin. Diamond Dust a glittering luxury material is applied to the artwork in the printing process, enhancing the artwork with a radiant finish. It draws attention to the colours of the world showcased, and enhances the special look.

SANTE D'ORAZIO

Born in 1956 in Brooklyn, New York, Sante D'Orazio transformed his Italian- American, Catholic upbringing into a scandalous, trademark style celebrated in the fashion and advertising world. D'Orazio presents an alluring combination of sex and celebrity: a world populated by beautiful Supermodels (in various stages of undress), megawatt actresses like Angelina Jolie or Sharon Stone casually lounging on a sofa or by the sea, shirtless rock stars like Axl Rose and hyperbolic bombshells like Pamela Anderson.

GOLD AND SILVER COLLECTION

With the famous argenteum series, photographic master Guido Argentini was moved to coat a model in silver makeup and the shiny paint transformed the models into icons of fine art photography.

Guido Argentini's famous silver series enchants with magical elegance. The Gold Collection by the star of nude photography captivates with coolness and magnificent look..

HOWARD SCHATZ

The American photographer Howard Schatz originally studied medicine before he changed career paths. Today his photographs are exhibited in museums and photography galleries internationally and are included in innumerable private collections. His unique visual language has garnered him international acclaim: Schatz is a consummate achiever - having won nearly every award possible in his field.

His portfolio includes portraits and nudes of people from all walks of life but also rather abstract still lifes and light studies. Exploring the human form in surprising ways is at the core of the American photographer of Jewish heritage.

DAVID YARROW

David Yarrow is a British fine art photographer and one of the most spectacular and best-selling nature photographers in the world. In his large-format monochrome prints, he captures the beauty of the planet like no other. His works are populated by majestic lions, sleek panthers, and free-roaming buffalos. Trumped only by the female beauties Yarrow places next to them, he captures unique moments of human-animal interaction. While highlighting the untamed side of supermodels such as Cara Delevingne, Yarrow portrays the wild beasts in the most human way possible. Apart from eternalizing them on film, the renowned photographer is dedicated to preserving the very landscape and its inhabitants that he draws his inspiration from.

ALISON JACKSON

Allison Jackson is a contemporary artist who explores the cult of celebrity – an extraordinary phenomenon of our age made possible by the wide availability of photographic images in film, press, TV, internet, and the interest in publicity. Jackson makes convincingly realistic work about celebrities going about their most private business by using lookalikes. Likeness becomes real and fantasy touches on the believable. She creates scenarios we have all imagined but never seen – the hot images the media can't get.

MASSIMO LISTRI

Massimo Listri is an Italian photographer best known for his large-scale images of majestic, empty interior spaces. In his photographs of castles, abandoned houses, libraries, cathedrals, and theaters, Listri often symmetrically composes the space to lead the eye into the framed pictorial space and capture a sense of awe while celebrating the intricacy of grand architecture.

The artist's works have been exhibited in the Morgan Library and Museum in New York, the Museum of Modern Art in Bogota, the Vatican Museum in Rome, and many others.

JOACHIM SCHMEISSER

Joachim Schmeisser was born in Germany in 1958 and is best known for the series he made in East Africa – his iconic portrait of elephants – particularly the orphan elephants at the Sheldrick Wildlife Trust in Kenya. He started this project in 2009 – during a stopover on a trip to see the mountain gorillas in Rwanda and the Hadzabe in Tanzania. He photographs Africa's last giants up close, creating extraordinary portraits.

ANDREAS H. BITESNICH

Andreas H. Bitesnich is seen as one of the greatest photographers of our time. Especially in nude photography, he ranks among the best in the world. His passion for photography started with a visit to Milan where - inspired and captivated by the fashion photographs of a colleague - he acquired his first own camera and taught the art of photography to himself.

His visual language is formal and sculptural, which is reflected in his numerous landscape photographs.
